About CIGRE and the Committee for CIGRE-India

The International Council on Large Electric Systems (CIGRE), with its Headquarters at Paris deals in the field of generally Transmission, Distribution and Renewable Energy. It functions through 16 Study Committees formed for various disciplines of Power Systems. Each Study Committee comprises about 24 experts drawn from various countries. In addition, some more experts are members of the Working Groups/Task Forces formed by these Study Committees. It is a matter of pride that India is represented in all the 16 CIGRE Study Committees as regular observer member. CIGRE (Paris) has about 14000 members from 100 countries. Where ever there are more than 40 equivalent members in any country a National Committee is formed with the following aims:

- To disseminate the technical information to the members of the national committee.
- To propose papers for presentation at CIGRE sessions
- To organize representation in CIGRE session / symposia.
- To encourage membership of CIGRE from India there were 827, 820 & 800 equivalent members for CIGRE in the year 2018, 2019 and 2020 respectively.

CIGRE (India) is an affiliate of Central Board of Irrigation and Power. It is the Indian National Committee of CIGRE and is a registered society. It co-ordinates the activities of CIGRE in India, through a number of National Study Committees and disseminates the information about the activities of the CIGRE Study Committees and Working Groups to various organization in India.
